EUROPEAN SUMMARY.

As it will be difficult to lay before our readers all the intelligence afforded by the latest arrivals, we shall endeavour to condense such articles, as we have not room to furnish in detail. The Prussian and Dutch fortresses are repairing with great activity throughout the low countries, and the bordering parts of Germany. A grand fête was given at Paris on the 23d of August, at which the Duke of Wellington, the foreign Ministers, and many officers of distinction attended, and what is unusual on such occasions, the King of Prussia, under the assumed name of Count de Rupin, presented himself to compliment their majesties. At Copenhagen a question is propounded by the government, what is the most practicable mode of diminishing the number of the poor, and it is further stated as the opinion of the Government, that marriages between young people, without the means of supporting them, have contributed to increase the number of paupers—a grave conclusion, and which no matrimonial politician can possibly doubt! The opening of the new port of Middleburg, took place on the 9th instant, with great solemnity, in the presence of the king of the Netherlands. As late as Sept. 6, the Doctors who attend the king of England, gave the following curious and original certificate: "His Majesty has passed the last month in a tranquil and comfortable state—His Majesty's disorder continued unaltered, but his health is good;" in other words, insanity was deemed a disorder! With regard to France, a shocking insurrection is stated to have broken out in Lyons, equal in enormity to the worst periods of the revolution. Following this article, we perceive another of the same date, representing the insurrection as a trifling thing, and easily repressed by the energy of the laws. Subsequent information from Lyons makes no mention at all of the circumstance.—The Emperor of Russia is said to be reducing his army to a peace establishment, and another article informs us that no reduction of the army of occupation is to take place in the course of this year. Nothing is said in the corroboration of the intelligence sometimes received from Madrid, that all the Allied Powers had appointed Commissioners to meet in Germany, to decide on what course should be adopted with regard to their interference, in behalf of Ferdinand, against his revolted colonies. In a London paper, a calculation is made of the quantity of flour shipped in one year from the United States to Liverpool; it amounts to 493,514 bbls, which together with the grain brought from the same country would be sufficient to load 2736 vessels of one hundred tons each. Sardinia has established a new Concordat with the Holy See. We select the following shocking accident, amongst the several with which the late intelligence abounds: A shocking accident happened on Friday se'nnight, to an unfortunate man named Stokoe, working at Riddle's Wallend colliery near Kenton. He was employed along with another man in taking the small coals from the screens, and throwing them upon the heap, which is well known is generally on fire in the inside. On this occasion he had left the security of the wall, along which the barrows were trundled, and was proceeding over the top of the heap to throw his load more over it, when as he was passing over its centre, the surface suddenly fell in with its weight, the inside being burnt quite hollow, and he was engulfed in the burning abyss, which instantly closed upon him, and sent forth a volume of flame and smoke like the crater of a volcano. The person who was working along with him, was not aware of the fate of his companion, till he perceived the flames bursting from the opening made in the heap; any assistance to the unfortunate sufferer was entirely out of his power.—Not a vestige of the body has been seen.

From all the intelligence, it does not appear that any new disturbances or political explosions will take place in Europe. There is every reason to believe that the demons of war and of turbulence will be chained at least for a season.—Nations must have a time, as Shakespeare beautifully expresses it, "for affrighted peace to pant."—Even if the most ferocious policy was predominant in the European Courts, a season must be allowed for nations to recover from such awful carnage as we have witnessed.

Spatium requiesque furori.
In short, it is some gratification to find, that those who can contemplate the carnage and the destruction of the human race; those to whose eyes the Heavens and the Earth never look beautiful, unless through blood!—those to whose ears no sounds are harmonious but the groans of miserable men; those who can only smile when they inflict pain and anguish; those who may be called monsters in the shape of humanity, are doomed, at least for a season, to suffer under the curse of beholding cheerful faces, contented villages, abundant harvests, the snow white wings of commerce, and all those blessings of which their sanguinary souls deny them the enjoyment.

The following is an extract of a letter from Madras, dated 6th January, 1817:—"We have nothing talked of here but war! Lord Moira is gone into the Upper Provinces of Bengal, under pretence of a hunting excursion; but his preparations are more of a military nature, and it is generally conjectured that he intends invading the Mahratta Empire, as soon as the season will permit, with an army of 80,000 men. Our frontiers to the northward and westward have been plundered by a set of freebooters, who have laid waste the whole of the provinces in these directions, and committed the most shocking outrages upon the inhabitants—such as cutting off their noses, fingers, and other parts too horrible to describe.—They are acknowledged by no particular power, but generally believed to be sent by Scindia, the great Mahratta chief; and this supposition is said to be the pretence of the war now in agitation. The estimated loss to the company, occasioned by the invasion of these vagabonds, is one and a half millions sterling. A major of the fourth native cavalry, with a detachment of his regiment of 300 men came up with a party of about ten thousand of these fellows at Cummun, about 150 miles from Madras.—He took them by surprise, and succeeded completely in routing them. He gave no quarter—killed 800 men, and took one thousand horse, without a single casualty to his own men. This you will say was a glorious achievement; and will immortalize the three young officers (for there were but three) and the few men that accomplished it."

A drover with a large drove of cattle being on his way from the Western part of Vermont for Boston market, was proceeding by the way of of Bellows Falls. Seeing on the mile stones, "B. Falls," he says to a friend, "bliss, the luck, beef falls every mile." He therefore concluded it best to turn himself about, and make the best of his way to the west side of the mountain.

At an examination of a senior class in a college, a young man construed the following in Horace, Exegi monumentum ære perennius—(which is in English, "I have finished a monument more lasting than brass")—thus: "I have coten a monument harder than brass." One of the trustees immediately replied, "Well sir, I think you had better sit down and digest it."

THE READER'S BEST REPLY.
In this money loving country, and in these "hard times," every man is naturally anxious to get his money's worth of every thing he buys; and no doubt this extends to newspapers. If a reader expects much from the writings of an editor of talents, or from the judicious selections of one of taste and judgment, he will be in a greater or less degree disappointed, if he does not place him at his ease. But, let every one make it a point to be punctual in fulfilling a printer's terms—relieve his mind from the perplexity of constantly contriving ways and means to raise funds to keep his business going—free him from the anxiety and embarrassment which attend laborious and tardy collections; and you then give him some chance to think, and to use the pen instead of the scissiors, or the latter with due deliberation. No one can write for a paper while his hands are employed in writing bills, and his brains in contriving what to do if they are not paid. The reader's interest then is obvious; by paying the editor he becomes entitled to so much of his mind, as must otherwise be applied elsewhere.

Though writing bills and doing business, the writing of manuscripts is a very different thing. The pen runs so glibly over the paper in such cases, and the mind is so agreeably stimulated thereby, that it is rather refreshing than fatiguing—a very wholesome relaxation from study! [Delaware Waterman.]

ALEXANDRIA: FRIDAY, OCTOBER 17, 1817.

GREAT BRITAIN AND SPAIN.

What dependence the public ought to place on the paragraphs and articles of intelligence in newspapers, every reader of them ought by this time to be sufficiently aware of. Yet do we see them continually bringing forward the most palpable, self-evident, and contradictory statements, as if to puzzle, not to inform the public, was their object. Who can read the extracts from the London journals without being astonished at the effrontery with which the most contradictory intelligence is offered to that people, and the phlegmatic patience with which so many false and absurd suggestions are received and endured. A Baltimore paper informs us that "the London ministerial papers contain paragraphs advocating the propriety, and even necessity, of the interference of Great Britain in favor of Spain against her colonies in South America; and that it is even mentioned that an engagement to that effect has been entered into between the two powers." At the same time the following paragraph is declared to be extracted from the Morning Post, a ministerial paper: "We have authority to state, most positively and unequivocally, that there is not the slightest foundation for the reports of late so industriously circulated, and so perseveringly dwelt upon by some of our contemporaries, of Great Britain being likely to be engaged in war on account of Spain and her colonies. Never, indeed, was there a period in which there was less probability of this country being hostilely involved with any state; for never were we on more friendly terms with all powers than we have the happiness to be at the present moment; and we can, with equal confidence and truth, assure our readers, not only that there exists no difference upon any point whatever, but that there is not likely to be any ground of misunderstanding between this and any other country." How can the former paragraph be reconciled with the latter?

Extract of a letter from a mercantile house in Liverpool, to a gentleman in this town, dated Sept. 10, 1817.

"The continued fine weather which we have had since our last has rendered our market for flour exceedingly flat, and we cannot now quote more than 48 to 49 shillings the barrel. The prices of grain throughout the country are looking down; so that present probabilities are in favor of our ports closing on the 15th November. It must still, however, be viewed as a matter of considerable uncertainty, and depending materially on the future state of the weather."

LORD AMHERST AND BONAPARTE.

[Omitted in yesterday's Gazette.]

The Caesar, which in consequence of the loss of the Alcete frigate, recently brought home Lord Amherst and his suite from Batavia, is the bearer of the latest intelligence, from S. Helena, relative to the health and manner of living of the ex-emperor of France. The Caesar having occasion to touch at St. Helena, Lord Amherst expressed a desire to be introduced to Bonaparte, and in spite of some obstacles which presented themselves, his lordship, with capt. Maxwell and Mr. Lynn, surgeon of the Alcete, allowed to wait upon him. On the 3d of July, Lord A. was ushered into Bonaparte's presence at Longwood—whilst capt. Maitland and the surgeon waited in an antichamber. It was not long before those officers were desired to join. There was nothing in the appearance of Bonaparte which in the least indicated ill health; on the contrary he looked well, and less bloated than ordinary. In his conversation with the party, his questions were put with his usual rapidity; indeed they followed each other in such quick succession, that answers could only be given to those which appeared most marked and important. With his general curiosity, B. inquired of the officers what stations they filled on board the ship, and on leaving Mr. Lynn was the surgeon, he enquired what system of pharmacy he pursued. "That depends upon circumstances," replied the surgeon. "I hope," replied the general, "it is any other than that practiced on this island; for here we have the same thing over and over again—bleeding and calamel forever."—The conversation taking a turn on the mission of Lord A. to China, his lordship related the cause of its failure; and which he ascribed to the necessity imposed upon him by the emperor, of smiting the ground nineteen times with his forehead; an indignity which his lordship intimated could not be submitted to. Here Bonaparte's answer showed the man. "Indeed! now, had it suited my policy to send an ambassador to the emperor of China, I should have instructed him to kiss his great toe; and if that would not do, he might, if required, salute a more offensive part, provided my object could be attained."

In the course of conversation, Bonaparte said he knew of no law which gave the powers of Europe the right of detaining him a prisoner at St. Helena, or elsewhere; and strongly urged the propriety of his present situation being taken into consideration by the crowned heads of Europe. Notwithstanding his disappointments, he still affects great reliance on the justice of the Prince Regent of England, when unconnected with national police and the influence of ministers; and with this impression on his mind, he expressed an anxious wish that Lord Amherst would be the bearer of a letter from him to his Royal Highness, which had been prepared some time, with the intention of forwarding it to England. We have reason to believe we are correct in stating that his Lordship undertook to deliver the letter in question. It is said to be couched in the most respectful terms; but discovers a soreness throughout on account of the unnecessary restraints he alleges that he is made to undergo. The officers of the late Alcete found that he can have the range of the whole island in his exercise of riding, diving or walking provided he will allow a British officer to attend him; but to this he objects. As it is, he may extend his walks about 12 miles, but then he is liable to meet in his perambulations British sentinels at various points, who never fail to present arms to him. Madame Bertrand was seen by the British officers, and the impression made upon them was, that she was a very handsome and clever woman. [London Courier.]

DISTRESSING CALAMITY.

Yesterday, after the Philadelphia Steam Boat left the wharf for Trenton, Mr. Cox, wife, child and niece, and several gentlemen, put off in a wherry, in order to overtake her. On coming along side of the Steam Boat, one of the wheels unfortunately struck the wherry and sunk her, and sad to relate, Mrs. Cox, and a gentleman, whose name is not known, were drowned. Every exertion was made to rescue Mrs. C. but before a boat could reach her from the shore, she sunk to rise no more. It is with pleasure we mention the name of Mr. Kellim, master of the Steam Boat Twins, who on his passage across the river providentially passed by, at the moment the boat sunk, and with a promptness that reflects great credit on him, threw himself into the river, and was seen to rise bearing in his arm an infant, only 10 months old, daughter of the unfortunate Mrs. Cox.

FROM BRAZIL.

The sloop Paragon, Captain Pierce, arrived yesterday from Bahia. Capt. P. informs, that the Paragon arrived at the port of Bahia Formosa, on the 24th of August from New-York, where she obtained the following news from the commandant of that place—About two months ago, the Royal Portuguese met the Patriots near St. Augustine, with forty thousand troops from Rio Janeiro & St. Salvador, where an action ensued, which lasted two days and nights, with great loss on both sides. The Patriots were pursued in every direction, and whenever they fell in with straggling parties they indiscriminately put them to death.—Fifteen of the principal chiefs were executed at St. Salvador, a number at Pernambuco, and several at Paraba.

Some of the Patriots have gone into the interior, and others have returned to their homes.

The Royal Portuguese have, in this victory, gained possession of the whole Brazil coast, and indeed the interior as far as can be ascertained. The commandant further stated, that an intimate acquaintance of his, a colonel of Bahia Formosa, was shot at Pernambuco; and that the Royalists would not have gained so decisive a conquest, if the country had been armed. The want of arms was the great cause (and several disaffected patriots) of their total overthrow. Likewise informed, that two American vessels, loaded with all kinds of munitions of war, were taken going to Pernambuco, by the squadron, & the crews were sent in irons to Rio Janeiro, and that a few days after, an American schooner, going into Pernambuco, displaying Portuguese colors on the canvas, put about, when she was attacked by one of the squadron, but made her escape after giving the Portuguese two broadsides.

The Paragon has coasted from Cape Blanco to Cape St. Roque, and has been at anchor in three different places, six miles north of Paraba, Treason Bay, and Bahia Formosa; and has looked in to every bay and harbor, and has found the Portuguese in quiet possession of the coast, and in every place was the Portuguese flag hoisted. There could not be obtained any information of an army where belonging to the Patriots of Brazil. The Portuguese have several ships at Pernambuco, one at Tamarion, a schooner at Paraba, and a brigantine at Rio Grande do North.

It is hoped that a numerous concourse of spectators will crown the wishes of him who will omit nothing to give satisfaction to the public, especially as it is the first time it has been represented here.

The Exhibition will be made on SATURDAY EVENING, at 7 o'clock, October 15.

IF early application is made, I will dispose of 400 acres of the CEDAR GROVE tract of lands. There is surplus timber and fire wood enough on the part I propose selling to pay, with judicious management, more than half the purchase money, at the price I ask. The situation is healthy, and the land fertile. Contiguity to market is also among its advantages; it being within less than a mile of Mr. Jonathan Janney's mill, where the Alexandria price may be had for grain. Persons wishing to purchase will apply to the subscriber, residing at Cedar Grove, ten miles below Alexandria, and one below Janney's mill.

This farm lies in the centre of an excellent neighborhood—in a handsomely situated—abundantly watered, and has upon it an ample proportion of wood. The soil is naturally strong, and a considerable portion of it has for some years past, been cultivated according to the most approved rules of modern husbandry. Possession will be given on the first day of January next. The terms upon which this property will be sold, will be made known upon application to George L. Brent, of Stafford County, Va. or to the subscriber living in Alexandria.

Rich Kenhawa Lands for Sale or Barter.

I WILL sell or exchange, for property in this district or its vicinity, a valuable tract of land in Mason county, Virginia, situate on the Great Kenhawa River, at the mouth of Eighteen Mile Creek, distant from Point Pleasant about eighteen miles. This tract binds upon the river, and contains by patent one thousand and fifty acres, a large proportion of which is rich bottom. The title is old, and indisputable, having been located and surveyed by Gen. Washington before the Revolution. What may be considered as adding much to its value is the passage of the western road through it. By a reference to Mr. Madison's map of Virginia, the situation of the land may be designated. Apply to Colonel Francis Peyton, or Sully for Sale.

THIS estate, situated in the county of Fairfax, twenty two miles from Alexandria, and the same distance from Georgetown, contains about seven hundred and fifty acres. Little River Turnpike passes through it half a mile from the dwelling house. The situation is handsome, and remarkably healthy; the water is good and abundant. The soil which was originally excellent, has for some years past had the advantage of improving husbandry. Phloster of Paris acting with powerful and immediate effect on all grasses and grains. The field presents a good surface for cultivation, and those now untill, are covered with red clover. The orchards are very large and thrifty; the collection of table fruit is choice and various. The mansion is spacious and well constructed: the out-houses are conveniently situated, and the whole have been lately thoroughly repaired and painted. The farm houses, which are all nearly new, are extensive and excellent in their kind.

For a gentleman of leisure this would be a delightful residence; and a profitable estate for an active farmer. The title is indisputable, and perfectly unincumbered.

A number of well taught orderly young men, with good stocks and farming utensils of all kinds, and the crops of the present year, if desired, will be at the command of the purchaser.

Application may be made to the subscriber, living on the premises, next the post-office at Pleasant Valley, Fairfax. FRANCIS LIGHTFOOT LEE.

Take Notice.

THE subscriber being appointed trustee by the hon. Judges of Charles County Court, as a court of equity, for the purpose of selling and conveying the real estate of Timothy Carrington, late of Charles County, deceased: will offer at public sale, on TUESDAY the 28th of October next, in the town of Port Tobacco, in the county of Charles—part of the real estate aforesaid, viz

One tract or parcel of Land, containing 273 acres, lying near navigable water, well supplied with wood and timber. This property is about 7 miles from Port Tobacco and 8 from the Potomac, on the road leading from Port Tobacco to Dumfries and Nanjemoy. The purchaser will be required to give bond with security for the purchase money payable in two years—and on the payment of the same will receive a deed from the trustee conveying title in the usual manner on like occasions.

MALACHI ROBY.
Port Tobacco, sept. 19

For Sale.

A TRACT of land, lying on the North Fork of Quantico Creek, and only two miles from the town of Dumfries (known by the name of Clifton) containing about 250 acres. About two thirds of this tract is in wood—a part of the cleared land well enclosed. There is on this tract a good dwelling house, stables, &c.; and convenient to the dwelling house a grist mill, containing two pair of stones—one of burr, new, five feet diameter; the other Cologne. The mill is lately built. Every part of the gear new, and completely fitted for merchant work. The mill better secured from floods than any I am acquainted with, having but 3 feet of dam, with a short race, to admit of fall for a twenty-four feet overshoot water wheel. In fact, the land is of good quality; the situation handsome and healthy; the stream a good one; and the mill new, spacious, and well finished, and being in the most direct road for a great part of the produce that comes to Dumfries to pass it. Possession can be had immediately, and the terms known by application to me, at Dumfries.
